ABOUT DIGIFEST

The 4th annual Digifest is set to take place from 6 - 11 November 2017 on DUT Campuses and other venues. With the aim of presenting a range of inspirational, engaging and educational activities across a number of creative mediums, the festival targets DUT students and staff, as well as other institutions, industry and the general public.

The festival produces a series of workshops, presentations, discussions, exhibitions, installations, live art works, performances as well as craft and food markets.

TICKETS / All events are FREE with the exception of Saturday 11th at Steve Biko, which is FREE for students and R40 for the public. Tickets will be available with Zapper or cash at the door.

SPECIAL PROJECTS / This year's festival includes a closed workshop leading up to the festival with Prof Oliveira (UFSM - Brasil) and DUT post-grad students. Another special workshop with The Makerspace will take place during the festival. Following on from the festival, arts producers/activists Kate Spacek (USA) and Jorge Muñeton (Colombia) will be hosting a series of workshops aimed at engaging local communities. For info on how to get involved in these projects please email digifest@dut.ac.za.
